Mysterious Burnings.
Our columns have already recorded the fact that at least seven crematories in East Limerick have been either completely or partially wrecked by fire within the past few weeks.
These wanton burnings require to be closely and carefully investigated, for they have become the subject of sinister rumours that if well founded, are so startling as they are disgusting. It statements going the rounds concerning them are true, they show that the property of the people is faced with a very grave menace, which must be fought and checked before it assumes any more widespread and alarming proportions. The investigations that have taken place, at all events, are shrouded in mystery and no time should be lost or scruple spared in inquiring into them with a view to effectively preventing a continuance of such outrages. In more than one instance the farmers who own the crematories are not the owners of the local community or any of the ordinary members of it, and so strongly do they hold this view that it is not their intention to make any claim against the responsible for compensation for the damage done. The opinion generally held, we understand, is that the outrages are the work of some parties actuated by spiteful malice or feelings of vengeance, and that they have been deliberately planned and executed with a view to hitting at what is regarded as the most substantial interest in the country. Serious allegations are being made privately but definitely, and if these have any real foundation in fact, the situation they disclose and describe is deplorable in the extreme. The matter deserves full and immediate attention at any rate, and such action should be taken as will at least make a recurrence or continuance of the incendiaryism complained of impossible. In this connection we are glad to observe that the question of fixing responsibility for the outrages has been under consideration by the members of the Limerick Farmers' Association, which deserves active support in any effort it may make to cope with the scandal referred to. At the last meeting of the Standing Committee of this body a resolution was unanimously adopted suggesting that steps be taken at the next monthly meeting "to ascertain on whom responsibility for the destruction of crematories in Limerick district rests." The monthly meeting will be held to-morrow, when the whole matter will, doubtless, be gone into fully and some important action decided upon. The Standing Committee recommended to the meeting "that vigilance committees be set up in every district composed of members of the Irish Farmers' Union and labour organisations to guard the people's property." Vigilance Committees have been set up, and their formation generally would be most desirable in the circumstances existing. Abeyford and Newcastle West supply admirable examples of their utility, and other districts would do well to follow the example set by those centres, where the Vigilance Committees have done such splendid work in maintaining peace and preventing robberies and outrages. The mysterious burning of crematories in the county must in the meantime be sifted and investigated with a view to bringing the offenders to justice if possible or, failing that, to ensure that the future outrages of the kind cannot be committed with impunity to the detriment of the farmers directly affected and of the ratepayers in general.

MAIL BAGS FILLED.
ANOTHER HOLD-UP NEAR LIMERICK.
About four o'clock this morning the mail car from Limerick to Tulla, with mails for Headfort, Co. Wick, and other parts of the county on the way to Tulla, was held up near Larkins Cross, outside Limerick, by ten masked and armed men. The mail bags were rifled, and registered parcels and money, the latter probably being for old age pensions, were taken away, the other letters being left strewn about the road. The masked men then departed, leaving the driver of the car to gather up the scattered letters and proceed on his journey.

HEALTH INSURANCE BILL.
Proposed Increase in Benefits.
Consideration was given by the Standing Committee of the House of Commons, presided over by Mr. Montagu, to the National Health Insurance Bill, the object of which is to provide for an increase in the rate of benefit under the National Health Insurance Act in view of the fall in the value of money. The Bill increases the annual rate of sickness benefit from 10s to 15s a week in the case of men, and 10s to 12s a week in the case of women, the rate of the disability benefit, from 5s to 7s 6d for men and women, and the amount of the maternity benefit, from 4s to 4s 6d. An amendment moved by Mr. Gifford was agreed to, providing where the weekly wage paid to the worker does not exceed 20s, the weekly benefit under the Act shall be paid by the employers.
